IT BELONGS TO THE LORD

"A minister preached a sermon along the lines that everything belongs to the Lord. An old farmer skeptically sat in the congregation, listening to but not agreeing with the sermon. That afternoon he invited the preacher to Sunday dinner with him and his family. After dinner they walked outside; the farmer made a point of showing the preacher around his house, barns, tool sheds, and pointed to his beautiful, well-kept farm. Then he asked the preacher, half-seriously, half-jokingly, 'Preacher, I worked all my life on this land. Do you mean to tell me that it's not my land, that it's the Lord's land?' The minister reflected for a moment and then quietly said to the farmer, 'Ask me the same question a hundred years from now.'"
